BUT THEY FOUND THE MAYOR PO-LITE AND SARCASTIC.

They Wanted to Give Him Pointers About How the City Should be Run but He Told Them to Wait Until the New Council is Installed -- In the Meantime He Fired a Shot at Mr. Barnes About That Paving Suit and Another Shot at Mr. Corbett About a Freight Matter-Conflict Liable Between the Two Organizations.

The committee of six that was appointed night before last by the committee of fifty, commenced work yesterday.

Four of them, Messrs, W. S. Corbet Oscar Barnes, Whitney Tucker and John Davidson, called on Mayor Cox yesterday and asked him when it would be convenient for him to consult with them about the management of municipal affairs.

Mayor Cox, it is said, proceeded to reast them in his quiet way. He said that he was not ready to do anything till be became acquainted with the new council as they had been elected by the people of their wards, and presumably knew more about what the people want-ed than anybody else. He thought that they will be able to run the city as they are fresh from the polls, and perhaps would like to have something to say about it as they were the ones to be held responsible by their constituents. He advised the members of the commit-tee to wait until at least after the first meeting of the new council as he did not like to say anything about municopal matters in advance of the or-ganization of the council. He indicated that he desired to get along with the nen who are to work with him during the next two years.

The above, in substance, was what Mr. Cox told the committee in his usual ar. Cox told the committee in his usual cool and serene way, and if there was anything stinging about it the committee did not appear to feel it, as it was uttered in a very affable manner.

The conversation then turned to the necessity for economy, and Mr. Cox seemed to agree with the committee.

He indicated to Mr. Barnes that he was particularly pleased to hear him advocating economy, and reminded him advocating economy. advocatng economy, and reminded him advocating economy, and reminded him in a most gentle manner that the city could be run on a cheaper basis last year if he (Mr. Barnes) had not enjoined the city from collecting asphalt paving taxes after being one of the men that so strongly advocated the laying of the said pavement. He reminded him also of the fact that the city was put to the expresse of a year. minded him also of the fact that the city was put to the expense of a vast sum of money in the line of attorney fees and other expenses in fighting this same suit that Mr. Barnes instituted. In response to these honeyed remarks it is said that Mr. Barnes simply blushed. Mr. Cox informed Mr. Corbett that he was also very glad to see him take such an interest in the welfare of the good people of Wichita, and reminded Mr. Corbett of his work in the quiet set-tlement of a certain freight rate case that was instituted in the interest of the freight burdened people of this city.

The meeting ended shortly after a reporter for the Eagle arrived on the When Mr. Cox was asked what had

When Mr. Cox was asked what had transpired he said he had simply reminded Mr. Barnes and Mr. Corbett of a few facts, that the meeting was a pleasant one and that he hoped applicants for positions would go to the committee of fifty instead of worrying the life out of him. He said there were twenty-one candidates for the office of dog catcher, and then delivered a brilliant eulogy on Kansas weather.

liant culogy on Kansas weather.
It is said in administrative circles that the mayor and the new council do not take kindly to the committee of fifty. One official said: "It looks too much like a committee of safety standing over the men elected by and responsible to the people, with a club. We have no objection to taking advicefrom any citizen, but we cannot look with favor on a committee organized to dictate a policy for us, and that will not take the responsibility if it is wrong. It is my impression that the new city government will be economy and that its work will be for economy and that its work will be governed by the sentiment of a ma-jority of all the taxpayers regardless of whether they are members of the committee or not."

Rev. Sam F. Smith, the author of the hymn "America," was 86 years old yesterday. He has lived only two days less than six years longer in this world than Bismarck, and Dr. Rich-ardson gave the order for the schools of Wichtia to celebrate the birthday of the man through whose brain the national hymn was inspired.

Promptly at noon the bells on the school buildings began to talk with their iron tongues and the voices of teachers and children were united in singing the song that patriotic Americans love so well.

The children seemed to enjoy the exercises immensely because Kansas children in general and Wichita children in particular are by education and instinct intensely loyal Americans. That is the reason they all joined in singing the patriotic hymn with such great enthusiasm.

Injunction Proceedings to Restrain the Sale of Property of Wichita National Bank.

Major Ewing, as receiver of the Wichita National bank, has commenced injunction proceedings against Sheriff Royse to restrain him selling any torney Davis prop real estate or property belonging to the Wichita National bank and especially lots 17 and 1 on Lawrence avenue and lots 97 and 99 on Emporia avenue in English's third addition

The plaintiff sets up in his petition that on the 17th day of May, 1894, Hogan, Evans & Co., recovered a judgment against the Wichita National bank for the sum of $564.72 and the costs arsessed at $88.85.

It is further shown that no execution was issued or any attempt made to collect said judgment until the 19th day of February, 1895, at which time the books were in the hands of the receiver.

Then Major Ewing further shows to the court that he has in his posses-sion as such receiver the sum of $25,000 not yet specifically applied or set apart for any particular or specific purpose with which said claim can be satisfied if the receiver was duly authorized by a court of competent jurisdiction to satisfy said claim in full.

The receiver therefore asks for a per-petual injunction against the defend-ants from levying on or asserting any title to any of the property of the Wich-ita National bank.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

It has been decided to continue the loan exhibition at the First Presby-terian church through today and Fri-day evening. The exhibit will be open from 2 a. m., to 19 p. m. In order to reach the large number who would like to avail themselves of the advantages of this rare and interesting exhibit, the children will be admitted for 5 cents and adults 15 cents, both day and evening Many new and very valuable features have been addedd, making an exceed-ingly valuable collection of strange, rare and curious things. It has been valued at anywhere from $15,000 to $25. 660, and is worth many times the price Lunch and ice cream will be served all day.

IN OLD TENNESSEE. Among the many writers of books and plays who have added so prolifically to the literature of this day and age there have been few, if any, negro contributors. Of these the only successful one that comes to mind is the author of In Old Teamessee: Ernest Hogan. This gentleman first discovered to himself the gift to put words into seniences through writing songs, taking acself the gift to put words into seniences through writing songs, taking actual occurrences for his theme. The success that greeted his initial effort in this direction seems to have warranted the future confidence in himself. "What Are You Gwine to Tell Old Pete When Yoy Meet Him at the Gate" now being sung with success throughout the country, was the title of the song and since then "Take a Peep at the Midnight Star" has duplicated its predecessor's success. People Must Pay Taxes on Money Loans on Real or Personal Property. County Attorney Davis has advised the board of county commissioners to make a test case in the courts that is likely to cause some of the lenders of money to have some very interesting business on hand. this city and county are loaning east-ern money which is secured by mort-gage on real estate and on personal property.

Where Dickens Got Them. In his new published "Memoirs of an Author" Percy Fitzgerald says: "The name of Pickwick, perhaps the most famous of the whole Dickens fammost famous of the whole Dickens family, was as is well known, borrowed from the owner of Bath the conches, and that of Sam Weller, according to Mr. Marcus Stone, owes its adoption to the fact that it pelonged to a small tradesman near Gadshill. He (Marcus Stone) once told me that on a walk with Dickens in Rochester they encountered a tradesman's cart on which was the name "Weller." He pointed this out as an odd coincidence. "Nay" said the novelist with his jorund laugh, "there he is! That is the original" which will be of interest to true Pickwickians.
